THE PUBLIC HIGHWAYS.

The City Should Control all Within the Limits.

The city council met Saturday and unanimously adopted the ordinance accepting that part of the Frankfort and Versailles turnpike within the limits of the city. This action of the council is generally commended by the people, whether the occasion to use the road was a present or future necessity, but as it has been said there are other turnpike roads within the limits of the city, the good work should not stop until the city has, as she ought to have, the right of control of every street, alley or other highway within the city limits. And further than this, if any property holder has encroached on the public highways by placing his fences on the street lines, thereby narrowing the width of the streets and disarranging the harmony of the general plan of the city, which it is claimed has been done on the South Side on Third, Steele, Shelby and other streets, the council, in a spirit of firmness in protecting the rights of the public and fairness in questioning the trespass by the property holder, should pass a resolution looking to an investigation of the matter and the correction at an early day of such enclosures of the streets as they may find unwarranted in law. The public rights are higher than private desires, and if it be true as a number of good lawyers maintain, that an individual, by unlawfully fencing up the public highway, can in no wise impair the public right or acquire a title to such unlawfully inclosed public highway, then the council should see to it that the street lines are straightened at once, or that suit be instituted to test the question and enforce the demand.

When Nature

Needs assistance it may be best to render it promptly, but one should remember to use even the most perfect remedies only when needed. The best and most simple and gentle remedy is the Syrup of Figs, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co.

Kentucky's Trotting Carnival.

The Kentucky Trotting Horse Breeders' Association, with headquarters at Lexington, is no local affair, for its membership extends over the States, and its influence over the continent. It gives the greatest meetings in America and deserves the support of all, especially Kentuckians, who love the light harness horse. Last week we spoke of what we considered their greatest race, and we still think so—that the Transylvania Stake will be the greatest race ever trotted, but the closing of entries for the purse classes insure contests the like of which was never seen, and then think of the big stake races, October 8, 10, 12, and 14. The Transylvania is on the 10th, and will be the greatest race ever trotted; but on the 8th, when the three-year-olds start for that $5,000 in the Representative Stake you will see the greatest field of colts ever on a track. Monday, Midnight, Chimes, Ralph Wilkes, Directum, Bill Lindsay, Bulona, Wilkeswood, Lady McGregor, Rose Turner, Adelaide McGregor, and other good ones. Then think of the crack three-year-olds in the Lexington Stake; the stake winners that will meet in the Kentucky, and the wonders in the Special. The Free-For-All on October 12th will be the greatest race ever trotted for a purse.

Dr. Hale's Household Tea.

Coughing before the entire mucous membrane lining the air passage leading to the lungs becomes inflamed, as it surely will be from a cough neglected. There is but one remedy that gives instant relief and cures quickly. Dr. Hale's Household Cough Cure cures every kind of cough from a simple cold to incipient consumption. 25 and 50c. bottles at Carpenter's South Side drug store.

LOCAL.

Mr. W. J. CHINN, JR., was elected a director in the Deposit Bank Monday in the place of his father, Hon. W. J. Chinn, deceased.

MR. ROBERT McMILLAN, formerly of this county, has purchased a residence on the corner of Twelfth and Main streets in Paris for which he paid two thousand dollars.

The alarm of fire yesterday afternoon from box 34 was occasioned by the burning of a stack of lumber at Messrs. W. J. Hughes & Co.'s mill. The flames were extinguished before much damage was done.

THE DELMONICO, a new restaurant for ladies and gentlemen, something which the city has needed for years, was opened up to the public by Capt. S. V. Pence Wednesday in the room formerly occupied by Mr. Wm. O'Donnell, on Main street.

MR. C. M. BERRYMAN, a brother of Mrs. W. H. Posey, who has been residing at Clifton, in Woodford county, has opened a first class grocery store in the Finzel block on the South Side. He will, doubtless, secure a fair share of the trade.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT — Proceeding from home Tuesday with his brother to take a hunt, Ellis Lancaster, a youth of nineteen residing near Swallowfield, received the charge of his brother's gun in the right side, producing such injuries that it is believed he will die. The explosion was accidental.

ROBERT ELLIS WOUNDED — A quarrel between Robert Green and Robert Ellis, two colored men, occurred at Washington and Mero streets Thursday, resulting in Green throwing a rock at Ellis, which struck the latter in the head and made a painful but not dangerous wound. Green was lodged in jail.

ASSIGNMENT — John J. Heller the meat merchant on Broadway, made an assignment Thursday evening to L. B. Marshall. His assets and liabilities have not yet been arrived at, but Mr. Marshall estimates that his assets will be about six or seven hundred dollars and his liabilities not much, if any, more than that.

EDMUND WATSON TAYLOR — The Louisville Post of Wednesday pays Mr. Edmund Watson Taylor, of this city, who is clerk of the scales and handicapper of the Jockey Club grounds at the Louisville races this season, the compliment of saying that he is "the best handicapper in the West, if not in the whole country."

DEATH OF MR. NEWBOLD — Mr. D. O. Newbold, who was at one time a prominent merchant of Lexington, died Thursday at the home of his son-in-law, Mr. Sanford Goin, Jr. He was about eighty years of age and the father of Mr. T. C. Newbold, now in this city representing a building and loan association of Louisville. By reason of his death at this time, Mr. Sanford Goin, Jr. sustains the bereavement of both his father and father-in-law. The remains will be buried from the family residence in Woodford county this morning at 9:30 o'clock.

REGISTRATION — The first day's registration in the city under the new election law was greater than the expectations of the officers. The total for each precinct was as follows:

Voglers' Store.....	227
Bridge Toll House.....	235
Court House.....	193
Market House.....	417
Gas House.....	364
Total.....	1,436

The City Council having provided for two additional days, the books for registration will be open next Tuesday and also Tuesday week; and if any person should, through sickness or other good excuse be necessarily absent from the city, he can go before the County Clerk on Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday preceding the election, and have his name recorded on the books.

THE STREET RAILWAY — The work of laying the rails up Main street for the street railway was suspended at High street until the turnpike company formally ratified the action of the city council Saturday in accepting the turnpike road within the limits of the city. After that was accomplished Thursday the work was again put under way and another block in the distance to the cemetery completed yesterday. The four cars which have been purchased in Birmingham, Alabama, will be here one day next week, and if nothing hinders the progress of the work, by week after next it is believed the road will be open to public travel. A street railway is a long stride towards keeping pace with the enterprise of the age by which cities are hoped to grow and prosper and it is hoped that every encouragement possible will now be extended to the road in its days of infancy.

STATE RAILROAD COMMISSION — Messrs. C. C. McChord, Urey Woodson and Chas. B. Poyntz, the Railroad Commissioners, met in the city Monday to begin the annual assessment of the railroads, but for the reason that a part of the reports from the railroads had not yet been received by them, they postponed the work on the assessment until next week. In the meantime each member will investigate and work on such reports as have been made to the commissioners.

COLUMBUS DAY — The School Board met the co-operation of Prof. McHenry Rhoads' purpose to celebrate at the city school buildings on the 21st inst, the discovery of America by Columbus. A programme has been partly formulated, but it is too lengthy for publication. The exercises will consist of essays, recitations and talks relating to the main features of the life of Columbus and his wonderful discovery, to be followed by an oration from some distinguished speaker, who is yet to be secured. The raising of the American flag on the top of the school building will conclude the day's celebration. The public will be invited to attend the exercises.

DEATH OF TENNYSON,

Poet Laureate of England, and the Greatest Poet of the Age.

Lord Alfred Tennyson, the poet laureate of England, and greatest poet of the age, died in London Wednesday. He was born at Somerby, in Lincolnshire, August 6, 1809, and was the third of seven sons in a family of twelve children. His father was Rev. George Clayton Tennyson, and his mother, a daughter of Rev. Stephen Fyche. A number of Tennyson's brothers wrote poetry, and he and his brother Charles made their first literary venture by the publication of a book of their poems between the ages of fifteen and eighteen years. At Trinity College, Cambridge, in 1828, Lord Tennyson first met Thackeray, and also Arthur Henry Hallam, to whom he became devotedly attached, and to whose memory he afterwards, in 1850, wrote "In Memoriam." In 1832 he published the "Lady of Shalott," "Miller's Daughter," "Lotus Eaters," "Dream of Fair Women," and other poems. Another edition of his poems appeared in 1842, which included the well known "Locksley Hall," "Gardener's Daughter," "Morte d'Arthur," "Godeva" and "Clara Vere de Vere," in which latter poem he says:

"However it be, it seems to me,
"Tis only sweet to be good.
Kind hearts are more than coronets,
And simple faith than Norman blood."

"The Princess," containing a part of his best and truest poetry, was published in 1847. It was after quoting the lines below from this poem that Poe said he regarded him as the noblest poet that ever lived; that he was the most ethereal, elevating and pure; that no poet was so little of the earth, earthy.

"Tears, idle tears, I know not what they mean,
Tears from the heart of some divine despair
Rise in the heart and gather to the eyes,
In looking on the happy autumn fields,
And thinking of the days that are no more.
Dear as remember'd kisses after death,
And sweet as those for hopeless fancy feign'd
On lips that are for others: deep as love,
Deep as first love and wild with all regret;
O Death in Life, the days that are no more."

In June, 1850, the poet married a niece of Sir John Franklin, and in the same year he succeeded Wordsworth as the poet laureate. This office, among other poems of commemoration, was the cause of bringing forth the "Charge of the Light Brigade" in 1859 the "Idylls of the King," regarded by many critics as his masterpiece, appeared, "Enoch Arden," in 1844, "Queen Mary," in 1875, and "Foresters" and other poems and dramas followed, and though he wrote as late as a few years ago, it may be said that his life work closed after writing Harold. raised to the British peerage in 1884 under the title of Baron Tennyson, of Aldworth and Farringford. He is dead but his works will endure as long as the English language is spoken, and Mrs. Browning's tribute paid to him many years since, has at last come to be realized: "If any thing were to happen to Tennyson, the world would go into mourning." Among his minor poems there is none, perhaps, that has been quoted oftener than the following beautiful lines:

On thy cold gray stones, O Sea!
And I would that my tongue could utter
The thoughts that arise in me.
"And the steady ships go on
To the heaven under the hill;
But oh for the touch of a vanished hand
And the sound of a voice that is still!"
"Break, break, break,
At the foot of thy crags, O Sea!
But the tender grace of a day that is dead
Will never come back to me."

A reported outbreak of cholera at Helmetta, N. J., created much excitement in that vicinity. Investigation showed that the disease was not cholera but a violent dysentery which is almost as severe and dangerous as cholera. Mr. Walter Willard, a prominent merchant of Jamesburg, two miles from Helmetta, says Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy has given great satisfaction in the most severe cases of dysentery. It is certainly one of the best things ever made. For sale by J. W. Gayle, Druggist. 1m

FRANKFORT, OCT. 8, 1892.

Stricken With Paralysis.

Mr. Frank Trumbo, a prominent farmer of this county, attended a political meeting in the school-house at Jetts Station, on Friday night of last week, at which Hon. W. W.
Stephenson and W. T. B. South, Esq., spoke, and during the speaking Mr.
Trumbo was stricken with paralysis —nearly his whole person being affected—and fell from his seat to the floor. He was taken up and carried to the home of his son, Mr. L. A.
Trumbo, near by, where he lingered between life and death until Monday night, when he rallied a little and regained consciousness, though is unable to speak, but is still in a critical condition.

Mr. Trumbo is a jolly, whole-souled old gentleman, who is universally popular with his neighbors, and his great misfortune has brought forth numerous expressions of regret and sympathy and his bedside is constantly attended by those to whom he has become endeared by his many excellent qualities of head and heart.

Fail to do Their Duty.

Everybody has at times failed to do their duty towards themselves.
Hundreds of lady readers suffer from sick headache, nervousness, sleeplessness and female troubles. Let them follow the example of Mrs. H.
Herbecher, Stevens Point, Wis., who for five years suffered greatly from nervous prostration and sleeplessness, tried physicians and different medicines without success. But one bottle of Dr. Miles' Nerve caused sound sleep every night and she is feeling like a new person. Mrs.
Elizabeth Wheeler, Laramie City,
Wyoming, who tried all other remedies, declares that after three weeks' use of the Nerve for Headache, Nervous Prostration, etc., she was entirely relieved. Sold by J. W.
Gayle. Trial bottle free.

Horse Sale.

Messrs. McFerran & Wyman sold a lot of Wyoming horses at public sale, at the stable of Messrs. Salyers & Mc-Donald, on Holmes street, Tuesday.
Thirty-five mares were disposed of at an average of $40.81 per head, and seven colts brought an average of $20 per head.

Don't!—If a dealer offers you a bottle of Salvation Oil without wrapper

tion, don't touch it—don't buy it at any price, there is something wrong counterfeit. Insist upon getting a perfect, unbroken genuine package.

THE CIRCUS COMING.Special Excursion and Low Rates
to the Great Adam Forepaugh Shows and the Fall of Nineveh.

The country is profusely billed for the appearance of the great Adam Forepaugh Shows, which will exhibit at Lexington, October 12, and which will be the only big show to exhibit in this vicinity this season. The Adam Forepaugh Show needs no recommendation to our people. For years it has been the largest and best conducted of all tented amusements.
Its advent is always looked forward to as an event of prominence, and is the occasion of general holiday in all lines of trade and profession. While the Forepaugh exhibitions have always been noted for their immensity and notable character of its many attractions in the past, the press of the country is unanimous in pronouncing it this year as the best and largest circus that ever toured America.

In addition to the usual circus hippodrome, and largest menagerie in the world, the management, at an expense of $250,000, have added an original Bible spectacle, "The Fall of Nineveh," which will be presented in addition to the regular performance without any extra charge. In this sublime historical Bible spectacle over one thousand people are required for its production. Nothing approaching it in the grandness or beauty of its scenery, in the exquisite coloring of its costumes, or in its interesting subject, has ever been produced in this country, and when it is taken into consideration that it is all presented in addition to the regular performance it is no wonder that the Forepaugh Show has earned the title of the "Oldest, Largest and Richest Exhibition in the World."

Arrangements have been made with all lines of travel for a special low excursion rate; therefore this big exhibition can be visited with comparatively small expense. All particulars can be obtained as to rates and time of trains by applying to the local ticket agent.

Well Enough to go to Church.

VERMILION, KY., Aug. 12, 1892.

Messrs. DuBois & Webb:

Gentlemen—In January I rented an Electropole from you. I had never seen it used but was grasping at anything for relief, and thank God the Electropole has done it. Four years ago I had a stroke of paralysis on entire right side, and had tried everything without relief. I could not wait on myself, had to be fed. I was very nervous, so much so I could not sleep more than two hours during the night, and suffered terribly with indigestion and constipation, and was always taking medicine. After using the Electropole, without medicine of any kind, can now dress myself and take a bath without assistance.
I am so thankful that now I can do something for myself as well as others for I can now assist my sister in her work, and sleep as quietly, sweet and refreshing as I ever did. My indigestion and constipation being entirely relieved I can now eat anything without having any drug bills to pay.
My sister has been cured of a cough that has been troubling her for years.
Also of constipation, for which she was obliged to take medicine daily.
I am going to church to-morrow for the first time since I have been sick.
Wish you success with your Electro-pole, and thanking God I am relieved me. Very respectfully,

MRS. F. E. L. STEWART.

lars of the Electro pole, sent free.

CAPT. SANFORD GOIN

Cut Down by Death's Reaper at a Ripe Old Age.

Capt. Sanford Goin, a well-known and prominent figure in this city, died Thursday night at his home on the corner of Lewis and Clinton streets. He was born Feb. 15, 1814, in Woodford county on a farm now owned by his son, Sanford, Jr., and came with his father to Frankfort when he was ten years of age.

As a boy he assisted in laying the foundation of the present State House and afterwards served his time in the trade of a stone mason, which occupation, together with that of a contractor and dealer in ice, became the chief source of his livelihood during life. Far back in the early days of this city he was the city watchman when it was the custom to cry out the hours of the night and proclaim to the inhabitants that, "All is well." As a watchman, fireman in the volunteer service or captain of a battery which he organized many years before the war, he had the true instincts of a soldier in the face of the enemy and never seemed to realize what it was to experience a sense of fear. What he conceived to be his duty, either to the city of Frankfort, which he loved and served with a child's fidelity to its parent, or to his principles in politics, business or other issues of the day which forced him to decisive action, he never wavered a moment in the choice and execution of his purpose, let the pains and penalties be what they may.

In the Scott and Pierce campaign in 1852, Capt. Goin's enthusiasm induced him to take his battery to Lundy's Lane to join the great political demonstration there in honor of Gen. Scott. During the war, when a detachment of Gen. John Morgan's command attacked this city, Capt. Goin, who was a captain in the artillery service of the State, was one of the squad who had charge of a twenty pound parrot gun on Fort Hill. Observing a six pound gun standing idle, he seized upon it and in the excitement of the firing, from some cause or other, it was prematurely discharged and the recoil knocked him down. The gun ran over him and produced injuries to his intestines from which he never afterwards completely recovered. Before and since the war, until within a few years past, Capt. Goin fired all the State and National salutes from the hills around the city and never seemed happier than when in the discharge of a soldier's duty or the observance of the rites of Odd Fellowship or Free Masonry, to both of which orders he was a devoted member, having joined the Odd Fellows forty-five years ago and the Masonic order about in 1854. In the latter order he had taken all the degrees of York Rite Masonry.

Capt. Goin's first wife was a half sister of Mr. Henry Williams, on the South Side, and by her he leaves a son, Sanford Goin, Jr., of Woodford county, and Mrs. Emma Triplett, wife of John Triplett, of this city. A daughter—who married Mr. Charles Egbert—died several years ago. His son Philip, who was well-known here, died last Spring. After the death of his first wife, and when he concluded to marry his second wife, Miss Nannie Brightwell, of Glens Creek, in this county, he made an equal division of all his property among his first wife's children and their descendants, who compose a numerous progeny of grand children and great grand children, reserving for himself nothing but the house in which he passed his declining days.

By his last will, who is a hopeless invalid, he leaves two young children, Walter and Nannie.

Whatever might be said of the faults of Capt. Goin's—and none can say they are without blemish—he had the qualities which, if early advantages had not been denied to him, would have made him a forceable and conspicuous character in the State's history. As it is, he will be remembered as a true, warm-hearted, loyal friend, a kind, indulgent and impartial father, and a citizen whose good deeds in this life ought to outweigh the evil for which he long since atoned in self-denial and suffering.

The funeral will take place at the Methodist Church, of which the deceased was a member, to-morrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, and the Odd Fellows and Masonic order will attend the remains to their last place of rest in the cemetery.

The family physician, Mrs. Helen R. Shalers, 419 Walnut St., Reading Pa., states: "We always use Salvation Oil for what it is recommended in place of physician! It never fails."

Game Law Still In Force.

The restriction of the game law in regard to killing partridges and other birds does not expire until the 20th inst., and the Fish and Game Club propose to prosecute all those who violate the law by hunting birds before that time. The parties interested should take notice and govern themselves accordingly.

Use it in every sick-room. Will keep the atmosphere pure and wholesome; removing all bad odors from any source.

NOT AN UNCOMMON EXPERIENCE.

The Young, the Aged, the Merchant, Clerk and Judge, all Have It.

It has been said that love is an intoxication which some times affects the mind to such an extent as to produce an apparent mental aberration. If it were not that all who have experienced a taste of such bliss—and those who have not are to be pitted—have, in a greater or less degree, been under the ban of suspicion by their friends, each would resent the idea of Shakespeare's linking them to a lunatic and poet. But it must be confessed that the best test of insanity is the domination of one absorbing thought and purpose, and yet from love's thralldom who would ask to be released and adjudged of a sound mind, free from the thoughts of a magic name and visions one day of actually winning the possessor of that name? Neither age nor occupation is exempt from the attacks of love, and the same unwitting slips of the tongue and pen that causes a youth to pronounce or write the name of his sweetheart, or the sudden far-away-look in the midst of an animated conversation, for which his friends may call him to account for his want of interest in them, is just as liable to strike a judge on the bench as the witness on the stand. The banker who wrote in a discounted note the name of the woman with whom he was in love, and who afterwards refused to wed him, but to whom he found himself obliged to pay the amount of the note, was no more astonished and worried over the occurrence than was County Judge Williams the other day when he learned that he had inadvertently fixed upon next Wednesday, his wedding day, as the date when certain summonses and other court orders were made returnable before him. Of all the days in the year, it appeared the Judge's mind could not travel further into time than next Wednesday, and hence when any case in law presented itself before him for the past two weeks it was sure to be docketed for "October 12th." It was only when the lawyers learned what a great undertaking the Judge had arranged on his docket for that day that the discovery of the mistake was made and the Judge informed that time would not end next Wednesday, but that there would be many other days to follow his wedding day.

The Old Original Remedy.

Sick people should not be deceived by pretenders who talk about "Microbi," "germs," "bacilli," &c., to sell their preparations, thus preventing people from buying the original tested medicine. "Radam's Microbe Killer" is what you need. It is now, and for years has been, making more cures than all other remedies combined. Read their advertisement in this paper. Don't be deceived.

feeling arising from Kidney and Liver trouble." John Leslie, farmer

Removing Obstructions.

The crew of the U. S. Snagboat
Kentucky is now engaged in removing obstructions in the river near this city, and have cut away all the logs from the drift-pile at the St. Clair street bridge which protruded far enough out to interfere with passing boats, and raised the old stone barge which was sunk at Salen-der's wharf several years ago, and has since interfered very materially with the unloading of coal barges at that wharf.
